

Jennifer Cook

Jennifer graduated from University of Guelph with a Bachelor of Science in Human Kinetics and a minor in Nutrition. She is currently working towards her CFP, CHS and has recently been awarded her EPC- Elder Planning Councillor designation. Before coming to Cooperators she was a Retirement Legacy Planner with a group benefits company out of Guelph where she specialized in retirement planning for large organizations. She is married to Darren and they have two children... Riley and Ivy.

Jennifer started with cooperators in October of 2006 as a home/life associate. She has been a contracted SR4 advisor since Dec 15th, 2011. During that time the office has achieved region builder's status 7 times, executive builders 3 times as well as Financial Star. Jennifer was named Businessperson of the year for Kincardine in 2015 and was also awarded the cooperators community achievement award in 2013. She was also nominated for RBC Women of Influence in 2018.

Jennifer believes that community involvement is a mandatory element to success. She lives in small town Kincardine, population 7000. She is the past president of the Kincardine and community health care foundation, member of the Kincardine Chamber of Commerce, a director for the BIA, co-chair for the Kincardine Reunion and serves on many other committees. She also attends numerous community events along with her staff- Kelly and Lana