

Dr. Lorna Mirham MD, FRCPC

Acting as a Staff Pathologist, Cytopathology Lead and Education Lead at North York General Hospital, Lorna Mirham has extensive experience as a medical professional specializing in cancer.

She received her post-graduate education at the University of Toronto as a Anatomical Pathology Resident and co-authored numerous medical publications specializing in her field. She also serves as lecturer at the University of Toronto.

Lorna brings her knowledge and expertise on cancer to help educate advisors on current trends and statistics and how it may impact their business.